

Star Blog – August 2005

Live Your Life!

Happy Friday, chicas! Ok, take a look at this pic. You know who that is? That's me with one of my favorite girlies ever, the 2004 CosmoGIRL! of The Year, Haley Kilpatrick! (She's on the left. The goofy-looking one on the right is me.)

Anyhoo, so Haley was on this year's American Eagle's "Live Your Life" panel of role models. Her job was to help choose the six winners (out of 6,000 entries!) and she was actually on the panel with a couple other CG!s we love...like last year's 2004 Born to Lead Award recipient Tori Allen, and the 2001 CosmoGIRL! of the Year and GlamourGals Founder, Rachel Doyle. (Um yeah, if half the panelists are CG!s, that's when you know how awesome it is say you are one too!). Anyways, Haley invited me to the AE Live Your Life Event at its brand new store in NYC and it was AWESOME. First off, the six winners were totally inspirational. Then of course, we were in the company of other cool media people and a bunch of celebs (Adrien Grenier, Tori Spelling, Rosario Dawson, Nick Lachey, etc.!). Finally, they had Louis XIV play and then passed out some of their new jeans styles, for free. When all they asked me was my size, I was convinced that the pair I got wouldn't fit me right. (Seriously, jeans never fit me! I HAVE to try them on.) But when I got them home, they fit fabulously and I got a ton of compliments when I wore them to work the next day. (What, you think I wear a button-up shirt to work? Pfffff, no way!)

It was sooo fantastic to see Haley again...I hadn't seen her in almost a year and I'm totally proud of everything she's doing for Girl Talk! In a couple months, we'll announce our 2005 CG! of The Year and I just know she's going to be a total rockstar like Haley! Because hey, we're CG!s!

XOXO, Christie, Editorial Assistant